
About Us

The Institute for Language and Preparatory Studies (ILPS) is an independent part of Charles University, one of Europe's oldest universities. We are a top educational institution specializing in teaching Czech as a foreign language with more than 60 years of tradition. This tradition, together with the many years of experience of our teachers, our methodology built up over many years, our individual approach, and the link between teaching and language testing, make ILPS a leading pedagogical and professional institution.
